

GERMAN BOMBS DROPPED AT SANDRINGHAM

Queen Mother's Bungalow Threatened by Aerial Missiles

WILL BRING OLD BELMONT BACK INTO LIST OF PRODUCING MINES

Norman E. Smith, engineer in charge of the construction of the new plant of the Monitor-Belmont Mining company at Belmont, was in camp yesterday en route to the southern end of Nye county to examine the property of the Pioneer Consolidated.

Mr. Smith says the sacrifice sale price of silver will not alter the intention of the Monitor to consummate plans for bringing old Belmont back to the producing column. The power line connecting Belmont with Manhattan at a cost of $15,000 is in operation. A brick mill has been established to furnish building material and the walls of the new mill are going up rapidly, so it is expected the mine and mill will be in active operation by June 15, 1915. The process will be simple and efficient. A gyratory crusher operates in conjunction with a battery of 10 1600-lb. stamps, similar to those adopted by the Aurora Consolidated, bedded in mortar, weighing 17,000 lbs., and the bottom having a thickness of 18 inches. The ore will be crushed to 60 mesh for concentration. Short tube mills, a novelty in this section, 10 feet long by 8 feet in diameter, will be used. A system of oil concentration, devised by Mr. Smith, and Deister tables will be employed. Oil flotation has been successfully demonstrated in Australia, where it has reached the highest degree of perfection with a credit of 5,000,000 tons annually. In this country the most successful application of oil flotation is at the Atlas mine in Ouray, where the cost of milling is said to be only 85 cents per ton.

Engineer Smith estimates there is 50,000 tons of rock on top of the ground at the side of the Monitor-Belmont which careful sampling shows should run at the rate of $10 per ton. The Monitor ores carry about 61 ounces silver and a fraction in gold. In the mine 25 faces of good ore have now been developed. When Belmont was in its prime between 1884 and 1884 and the price of silver ranged from $1.29 to $1.35 per ounce, according to the books of the old company, the cost of treating ore was $40 per ton.

EXCHANGE MAY BE ORGANIZED SOON

G. S. CLACK IS LEADING FACTOR IN PRESENT MOVEMENT

Steps are being taken looking to the organization of an active stock exchange in Goldfield. G. S. Clack, who was identified with brokerage circles of the camp in the early days and who recently returned here, is the leading factor in the new movement. He says he is meeting with co-operation and it is not improbable that success will crown his efforts. He declares present local conditions warrant local calls, says the Tribune.

Several members of the Goldfield mining stock exchange, which was organized in the boom days of the camp and which is still in existence, though it has held no calls for several years, held a meeting yesterday afternoon. The question of resuming calls was discussed at some length, but no decision was reached in the matter.

GUILTY PLEAS IN CONSPIRACY CASES

UNION LEADERS CHARGED WITH PLOTTING AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT

(By Associated Press.) FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 20.—Seven defendants in the Prairie Creek coal mine conspiracy cases pleaded guilty. They include Peter Stewart, ex-president of the United Mine workers of district 21, Fred Holt, ex-secretary of the union, James McNamara, ex-member of the city council of Hartford, Ark. They were indicted of conspiracy against the government. This probably ends the trouble in the mining district, which began in April when the Bache-Denman company endeavored to operate on the "open shop" basis. The plea was a surprise. One hundred witnesses had been summoned for the trial.

WOMAN SHOTS TWO SOUTHERN MINERS

ONE KILLED AND ONE INJURED BY MRS. O'CONNOR ON A RAMPAGE

Mrs. Rose O'Connor, long a notorious character in the Newberry mining district below Searchlight, is again in the limelight in a killing affray. On Sunday night she killed one man and seriously injured another with a charge of buckshot. Her motive has not yet been learned. It appears from the evidence that G. A. Lane and D. M. Neblett, two prospectors in the district, came from their cabin early in the morning and, after proceeding a little distance, were greeted with a volley from a shotgun, the woman then shooting with a rifle. Neblett fell dead with a bullet through his breast and Lane was seriously wounded. A third man, named Harris, appeared on the scene and Mrs. O'Connor threatened to shoot him also. Inasmuch as there were no rivalries over title to mining claims in the vicinity, the motive for the deed is a mystery, as the woman refuses to explain her action.

ENGLAND BOMBARDED AT WILL BY FOE FROM BEYOND CHANNEL, WHILE THE PEOPLE OF NATION SLUMBERED

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, Jan. 20.—German airmen delivered a long predicted attack on England last night. From a base presumably in Germany many they flew over the North Sea to the eastern coast of England, where for nearly four hours, from 8 o'clock until midnight, they circled over the towns a little more than 100 miles from London, dropping bombs at will. Two people were killed at Kings Lynn, and several injured. Two were killed at Sandringham and one injured. Whether the airships were Zeppelins or aeroplanes has not yet been established. The most important towns over which the airmen appeared were Sandringham, Sheringham, Hunstanton, Cromer, Heacham and Dersingham. King George left Sandringham only a few hours before the bombardment.

(By Associated Press.) KINGS LYNN, Jan. 20.—The streets are virtually paved with glass and souvenir hunters are picking up pieces of bombs. The outstanding feature of the raid appears to be the skill of the airmen. In the darkness they followed an exact route and dropped bombs in the vicinity of the king's house at Sandringham and the queen mother Alexandria's bungalow at Snettisham. Three missiles wrecked the sheds in which the royal railroad coaches were housed.

Attorney Stein, representing Ledowsky's creditors, said that Ledowsky confessed to him he forged warehouse receipts on whisky valued at a quarter of a million dollars and disposed of them through banks.
